COMPENSATION LAWYERS

TOTAL AND PERMANENT DISABILITY CLAIM

WHAT IS A TPD CLAIM?

If you have suffered an injury, illness, disability or condition which prevents you from working for a lengthy period of time then you may be entitled to a claim on your superannuation policy. Majority of superannuation policies have additional insurance cover which might be total and permanent disability (TPD) or income protection insurance. Majority of individuals have superannuation but do not realise they have additional coverage for when times are difficult.

HOW CAN LAW WORKS HELP?

EXPERT ASSESSMENT

We will assess your situation to determine if you are eligible for TPD/Superannuation benefit by reviewing your superannuation policy (or policies), the criteria to be met and your circumstances.

CLAIM PREPARATION

Our experienced lawyers will gather the necessary evidence and documentation to support and submit your claim.

NEGOTIATION

We will handle all negotiations with insurance companies and superannuation funds on your behalf, advocating for your rights and best interests.

APPEALS AND LITIGATION

If your claim is denied or disputed, we are prepared to take legal action to appeal the decision or pursue litigation to secure the benefits you deserve.

CAN I MAKE A TPD CLAIM?

If as a result of your injury, illness, disability or condition you:

- ✓ Have not worked for a period of six or more months
- ✓ It is unlikely you will return to your previous employment; and
- ✓ You have TPD insurance cover in your superannuation policy.

HOW MUCH IS MY TPD COVER?

The amount of TPD cover you have will depend on your specific insurance policy or superannuation fund. Our team can review your policy and provide a clear understanding of your coverage and potential entitlements.

WHO PAYS MY LEGAL FEES?

At Law Works, we have a No Win, No Fee agreement.

Fees are only payable upon successful completion of your claim.

Contact Law Works Compensation Lawyers today to ensure you receive easy to understand legal advice and we will navigate the complex legal processes and protect your legal rights throughout the claim.
